A Mission Powered by Volunteers

For more than two decades, Grammy’s Cookie Convoy has been sustained by a 100% volunteer force. Volunteers contribute their time, talent, professional skills, and personal commitment to keep the mission moving forward. Their service is the foundation of every package prepared, every relationship built, and every military member or family supported.

That volunteer strength is matched by the generosity of donors and community partners. Contributions of funds, goods, services, and expertise allow Grammy’s Cookie Convoy to respond to deployed service members, military families, and veterans with compassion, care, and respect.

FINANCIAL STEWARDSHIP

Responsible growth. Transparent decisions. Mission-first spending.

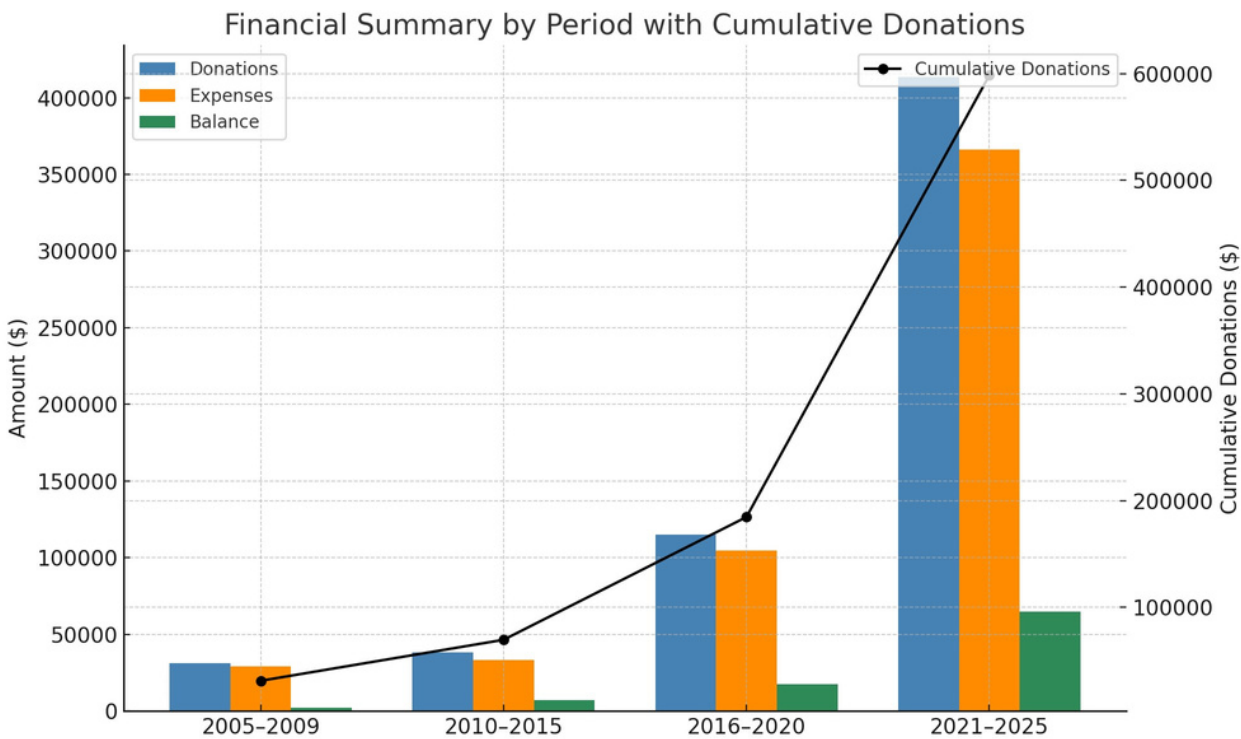

“We intend to use every dollar as if it were the last dollar we will receive.”

Grammy’s Cookie Convoy accepts the responsibility that comes with every contribution. Financial gifts are managed with care, integrity, and respect for donor intent. This protects the trust of supporters and helps keep resources focused on the people and programs at the heart of the mission.

As the organization grows and adapts, a limited number of paid staff positions may eventually be necessary to support continuity and long-term sustainability. Any such decision will be measured carefully against the mission, operational needs, and the organization’s commitment to fiscal responsibility.

Financial Growth by Reporting Period

The chart summarizes donations, expenses, remaining balances, and cumulative giving across four reporting periods. It reflects substantial organizational growth while showing that each period closed with a positive balance.

Draft note: Confirm all financial figures and reporting-period totals before website publication.

Every cookie, care package, scholarship, volunteer hour, and donated dollar represents a connection between a grateful community and those who serve.
